MASTER FORM GROUPS

These are the basic form groups as presented in our technical book, TEXT:

CLASS #	ELEMENTS USED	EXAMPLES [FROM EARTH]
GROUP I	EARTH, AIR, FIRE WATER, ETHER	HUMAN BEINGS
GROUP II	EARTH, AIR FIRE WATER	QUADRUPED MAMMALS
GROUP III	AIR, FIRE, WATER	BIRDS
GROUP IV	EARTH, FIRE	REPTILES, INSECTS
GROUP V	WATER	VEGETATION

These groups are universally applicable. However, the element mix for Groups II thru IV may vary slightly. Group I always contains all the elements and Group V always consists of the Water element. The Elements are the precursors to matter. When it is time for the Administrators to create a new physical universe, they use these basic elements. When the physical universe goes into dissolution, matter returns to these basic Elements.

SPIRITUALLY CAPABLE GROUPS

Only Group I is Spiritually capable. This is because the Ether element is necessary for Spiritual capability. Although the other groups have Souls or are associated with an Oversoul, they will never realize Spirituality no matter how much they may develop. It is simply not part of their makeup. If they are ever to enter the pure Spiritual planes, they will need to somehow obtain a Group I body. However, Souls in the lower Groups do survive physical death and ascend to the Astral dimensions. They simply cannot cross the barrier which separates the created worlds from the pure Spiritual worlds. It is important to understand how this limitation influences behavior. The only reality the lower groups can comprehend is the world of phenomenon - the material creation where time and matter, in some form, exist. The thought that anything could exist outside of these created worlds will never occur to them. Consequently, there is only one possible direction available to them if they choose to expand their horizons. That direction is to become immersed in materialism and the exploration and study of the created worlds of phenomenon. They never reach the realization that what they perceive as reality is an illusion. It should not come as a surprise, therefore, that lower Groups on planets which have existed far longer than Earth would advance as much as possible in the material direction and eventually acquire advanced technologies.

Indian mysticism presents a logical process called the "wheel of 84" which proposes that Souls make gradual, slow progress moving up thru the groups from V to I and then finally get a chance at Spirituality. However, direct observations do not support this. Past life regressions or readings for humans consistently show previous human lives and not previous lives as some lower creature group.

Whatever the correct sequence may be, we do know certain facts from direct observations. We know that, although all the Groups exist together on Earth, they do not continue this association beyond physical death. Only Group I beings exist in the Astral planes where humans generally go after physical death. Where do the others go? This is an interesting question and expeditions by groups of people who can Astrally project have searched in vain for this after death location. We know it exists and we know the other groups of life forms survive physical death, however, it appears we are not permitted to enter these dimensions.

SUBGROUPS FOR GROUP I

Beings in Group I are Spiritually capable. However, being Spiritually capable does guarantee Spiritual development. This is because Group I beings have the power to choose. The lower groups generally make automatic positive progress. The choice option is generally not available to them. However, Group I can choose to regress. We can subdivide this class into four main groups:

Active Development

The active development group is the group you would naturally expect to find. This is the group which understands the unique opportunity they have due the great fortune of being born in a Group I body. They dedicate their lifetime to Spiritual development.

We should point out that the Spiritual worlds which exist outside of the created universe select in favor of the Spiritually developed. However, the created worlds where we presently live select in favor of the Spiritually challenged. Therefore, as the cycles of time progress, the quantity of Spiritually developed Souls will steadily decrease because these Souls will leave the created or "lower" worlds for the "higher" Spiritual planes and will not return. Therefore, when we reach the last phase of the cycle, the Kali Yuga, evil will likely significantly exceed good in the general population of the created worlds.

Active Suppression

This subgroup of Group I has become aware of Spirituality and has decided that it is somehow dangerous to their agenda. They spend their time thinking up ways to prevent others, who would likely choose Spirituality, from successfully making that choice. This group includes members of the "priestcraft" - the leaders and architects of the garden variety religions - as well as most high level government officials.

Active Rejection

This subgroup is aware of Spiritual regions but rejects them. They believe that life in the lower creation is preferable to a Spiritual life. This generally occurs because they realize that all the decadent pleasures that they can experience in the lower creation do not exist in the higher planes and they do not want to give up these desires. The most influential example would be the Bilderberg group.

Unaware

This is the subgroup of Group I which is simply clueless about the tremendous unrealized potential they have as a Soul with a Group I body. Consequently, they are subject to outside manipulation. They may have the good fortune of coming under the care of Spiritually developed Souls. They may just waste their precious life in ignorance. They may come under the influence of negative propaganda from the Active Suppression group.

On Earth, the Active Suppression and Active Rejection groups control the general population. Some small autonomous or semiautonomous Spiritual groups survive. The planet is ruled by a relatively small group of people who love physical pleasures and power over others. In order to live the comfortable lifestyle to which they are accustomed, they need slaves. Therefore, they use Active Suppression methods to keep the general population from developing Spiritually so their Souls will not be able to escape this dimension and they will therefore remain here as servants to the ruling masters.

Because of this situation, Earth humans, which are technically Group I creatures, effectively function more like Group II or even lower Group creatures.

INTELLIGENCE

Let's say you live on Mars. One nice morning you go out to look for pretty red rocks - or whatever Martians do to pass the time - and this thing comes down from the sky, lands and starts to move around. You exclaim, "Intelligent extraterrestrial life has landed". Well, it is extraterrestrial and it did land and it might be slightly intelligent but it is certainly not life. It is just some junk sent from Earth.

What is intelligence and what is the value of intelligence? While intelligence is necessary to function effectively in this dimension, we tend to give unreasonable value and status to this faculty. To illustrate this error, let's look at some examples.

First, consider the "genius kids" used by the secret national labs. The government recruits average kids from grade school, takes them to the secret labs and gives them special classified drugs which boost their intelligence and allow them to obtain several Ph.D. degrees way before they are even eighteen.

They live in secret housing at the national labs. Reportedly, they exist on a diet of soft drinks, candy bars and potato chips. They roam the halls day and night in their underwear or maybe less mulling over the complex problem that has been assigned to them. No one cares what they do as long as they are making progress on their assignment. They use the kids to solve problems too complex for computers. Clearly, the kids have high intelligence. Obviously, they are technically smarter than the lab directors. However, the administrators have no real respect for them. They are sort of "organic modules" to plug into a "living computer" which burn out and need to be periodically replaced. None of the kids are kept beyond the age of twenty-five or so. They are replaced by fresh kids. Where do they go? Would you want them in your company? Remember, they have totally missed adolescence and have no social skills. Do you want a super smart Ph.D. who has to be reminded periodically to take a bath? The point here is that, although intelligence is important, there are other qualities necessary for a meaningful life which are perhaps more important. Assigning value based solely upon intelligence is serious error.

Secondly, let's consider Watson. Watson is not even alive. Watson is IBM's ultra smart computer which consistently beats real people on game shows. Watson is really smart. Some philosophers argue that the smartest person in the world should logically rule the world. Would you like to be ruled by President Watson. It really is smart - much smarter than you. So, why shouldn't you surrender control of your life to Watson? After all, it would be the intelligent thing to do.

Since we can manufacture machines with intelligence superior to living people and artificially dramatically increase the intelligence of any average person with special drugs, rating people by intelligence (IQ) has essentially no absolute validity at all. It is meaningless.

STATE OF CONSCIOUSNESS AS ONLY VALID SOPHISTICATED ID

IGC catalogs life forms by a form code and a state of consciousness code. This is considered the only universally valid ID system because your state of consciousness, which is an earned quality, is the only quality which stays with you when you leave the created worlds for your permanent home in the Spiritual worlds. Nothing else remains. You earn your state of consciousness by your ordeals in the lower creation of time and matter. State of consciousness cannot be faked. There is no way to cheat and get it faster. It cannot be bought or sold.

Other qualities that some consider important in the lower creation are meaningless. Intelligence is meaningless because it can be artificially created. The concept of wealth is meaningless. You did not create this universe and it does not belong to you. You have no right to claim ownership of anything. Also, everything made of matter is temporary. It is also essentially unreal since matter is constantly changing. The latest fad of "intellectual property" is a total joke. All information is essentially borrowed from the pool called the "universal mind". You don't even get to keep your own mind. It must be left behind when you enter the pure Spiritual worlds.

IGC CLASSIFICATION OF FORMS

As stated above, the standard IGC catalog of forms classifies the various creatures in the physical dimension by a form code and a state of consciousness code. Clearly, this is a huge catalog. There are over one hundred basic form codes just for Earth humans. Only Group I creatures will have state of consciousness codes above 3108. Most of the lower Groups will stay in the 1100 range. The 2200 range is generally for those whose existence is dominated by material desires and who are immersed in the world of physical phenomenon. Most Earth humans operate in this range. Codes in the 4000 range are to indicate access to non physical areas of the created worlds. The 5000 series codes are for those who can access the pure Spiritual worlds.

GROUP SOULS

We need to explain the concept of group Souls. While creatures in Group I, which includes Earth humans, generally have individual Souls, other groups may not. Creatures in Group IV generally operate under a group Soul. The best example of this would be termites. Scientists discovered that termites all over the world swarm at exactly the same time although they have no obvious way to communicate over great distances. Of course, scientists would never consider the notion of a Soul or invisible dimensions. However, since they could not deny the obvious "phenomenon", they coined the phrase quantum neural resonance to explain what they had observed. What is really going on, of course, is that termites, as Group IV creatures operate under a group Soul and not individual Souls. You could think of all the termites in the world as part of one giant organism. Since the communications system which links them to the group Soul and to each other operates outside of time, their responses are instantaneous no matter where in the world they may be. The group Soul concept would also explain observed behavior. For example, some termites found that they could eat creosote treated lumber if thousands of termites would go in first, take a mouth full of creosote and leave. They would promptly die but would deplete the preservative to the point that the remaining termites could successfully eat the wood. Instead of looking at this event as "suicidal termites", the correct perspective is an event equivalent to, say, chipping a finger nail, as the termites are not individuals but rather, collectively, a huge single organism. They are just not physically linked but rather psychically linked.

Groups II and III can also organize under a group Soul.

CLASSIC ALIEN REPORTS

The most common classic alien report concerns the "grey" people. These creatures are Group IV insectoids. The only thing below them that might land in some space ship would be, say, an aggressive tomato which would be a Group V creature. We know that the 1947 UFO report was a legitimate alien landing because it is covered as such in the FRUS books. These are the secret history books of the US that can theoretically only be seen by privileged insiders. The aliens in this incident are suspected to have been the "greys".

Another classic group are the reptilians. These aliens, like the insectoids, are also Group IV beings.

However, some aliens, such as the Pleiadians, are Group I creatures. The Pleiadians are a very old race which originated naturally and has not been genetically modified.

NON CONVENTIONAL ALIEN REPORTS

Classic aliens are assumed to come from somewhere in the physical universe in linear time. Here is a brief list of other sources and methods:

1. Aliens coming from another dimension such as the Astral planes and assuming a human looking form.
2. Aliens coming from the past or future using time travel technology.
3. Aliens projecting here but retaining their subtle (Astral) form which would be invisible to most natives.
4. Earth natives from the past or future using time travel technology. We have a very limited accurate history of this planet. Advanced civilizations with high technology could well have existed here in the distant past.
5. Present day Earth natives maintaining "bases" in the future. The US reportedly maintains a military base fifteen years in the future with communication links to the present. The purpose is to monitor the future to make sure it develops according to the wishes of the ruling oligarchs in the present. Intel from the future would allow "tweaking" the present to guarantee that the future conforms to present desires. Attempting to change the past to alter the present has proved ineffective. However, the future, which is more pliant, could be theoretically choreographed in the present and caused to come into existence as desired.

UPGRADES AND DOWNGRADES

Once creatures develop sufficiently to understand the genetic codes, the temptation to tinker with these codes exists. Nothing in the created worlds is perfect. This is why the created worlds must periodically be dissolved and then recreated. The genetic codes are not perfect either. However, both the creation and the codes for the life forms are, originally, as close to perfect as possible. The cycles of time repeat essentially indefinitely and the Administrators responsible are infinitely more qualified to construct the codes for life forms than any genetic scientist. Also, all of the original codes are designed to foster positive Spiritual evolution. This is the purpose of the Creation. Unfortunately, when amateurs start playing with the codes the situation can quickly resemble the classic story of "the sorcerer's apprentice". Recall that the apprentice got ahold of the sorcerer's magic wand and proceeded to create havoc he could not control or correct. In the story, the sorcerer returns to make things right. However, no sorcerer is coming this time. You break it - you live with it.

The "greys", in the most popular narrative, are here looking for a genetic upgrade. They cut up cows (Group II creatures) and play with humans (Group I creatures) to try to upgrade themselves beyond Group IV to a higher status.

Conversely, the reptilians, also Group IV, are supposedly not interested in upgrading themselves but in downgrading others to their level. Here is how this scenario would play out: The reptilians operate under a group Soul. If they could somehow get enough genetic material into Group I humans, the humans would drop out of Group I, lose their Spiritual abilities and desires and come under the influence of the reptilian group Soul. If the world's leaders could be successfully modified in this way, they could all be coordinated by the reptilian group Soul and control of the world would be in the hands of the reptilians.

It sounds like a really great science fiction plot. However, it should be noted that, in practical reality, most of the world leaders are "cold blooded" heartless despots who have no conscience and no regard for the general population. However, they generally do like each other and network together very well. Also, they immediately conspire to kill any world leader who shows compassion for ordinary people and work tirelessly to replace him with one of their own who will then crush the helpless masses under his control. It's probably all coincidence but it sure looks like the classic "reptilian agenda".

EXPERIMENTAL CREATURES

Quite some years ago, a scientist came up with the idea of creating a slave race by genetically upgrading lower primates just enough to enable them to understand and obey simple commands. The idea was to sell the new creatures to help people with menial tasks. He succeeded. However, he was Catholic and the church ordered him to abandon the project. Of course, he had to obey.

Although the original project envisioned peaceful uses for the slave race, current projects reportedly underway by the government do not. These projects seek to create some type of vicious, heartless super soldier by genetically upgrading large primates. Since they are naturally strong and clearly superior to humans in physical combat, the object is to program these disposable savage killers to invade countries and decimate everything in sight. This secret project is covered in the season three episode of Jesse Ventura's TV show titled "Manimal" [ <http://www.jesseventura.net> ].

Many experimental creatures have been created in the secret government labs and, no doubt, many more will emerge in the future. One of the original creatures from years ago was a giant spider. Apparently, the scientists had watched too many scary fiction movies. Anyway, although they were able to grow the spider, they found that it could not survive because its legs could not support its weight.

PARAMETERS FOR DEEP SPACE TRAVELERS

Who would you be likely to meet if you went on a "star trek". Who would likely want to come visit you on your home planet. We can establish basic parameters for both situations. These parameters are set by abilities and desires. Obviously, first, you need the ability to build practical spacecraft. Additionally, you need the desire to do this.

Let's consider the upper end of the spectrum first. The high end would be Group I creatures who are Spiritually aware and actively seeking Spirituality. They would have the ability to go into space. However, they would have no desire to do so. They would have realized that the physical universe is not their true home and has nothing of value to offer them. Also, in case they were curious, they could simply project to any point they chose without the need of any technology. Therefore, you will not meet this class in space.

However, you may meet equivalent creatures who travel as Administrators. Administrators are developed Souls who choose to stay and administer the Creation. They have administrator privilege which means they can access the full power of the Causal plane to carry out their duties. In the physical dimension, this is essentially absolute power. IGC and its enforcement division, IGP, enforce the laws of the Creation so that the will of the Creator will be fulfilled.

With the exception of Administrators, the effective upper limit of creatures you might meet are the creatures in Group I who have somehow "lost it" and have Spiritually fallen. A good example would be the Earth people interested in space. Essentially all NASA people are Masons. Since Masons worship Satan, they have lost any right they may have had to enter the Spiritual worlds. They are generally supported by scientific atheists who deny the existence of anything Spiritual. There is a report on the history of the NASA moon mission claiming that the astronauts did some kind of Satanic ritual on the moon before exiting the capsule. They are clearly into some pretty crazy beliefs.

The lower limit of creatures would be the advanced Group IV creatures such as the classic "grey aliens". This group, however, would still need some compelling motivation. In the case of the "grey" insectoid group, this motivation is survival. The scenario for them is that they have reached the limits of their physical form and need to find a way to genetically upgrade themselves in order to continue to survive. Survival is definitely a strong motivation.

Between the upper and lower limits you will find creatures in groups I thru IV. Since Group I is the only Spiritual capable group and is relatively small compared to the Group IV thru Group II collective, the probability is that you will be encountering creatures from the lower groups. The primary motivations would be survival and colonization/conquest. Survival motivations include situations where the home planet will no longer adequately support life or is likely to be destroyed by some cosmic event. Colonization and conquest motivations include the desire to look for places where "the grass is greener".

The chance that you would find creatures wandering around in space "just to make new friends and seek out new cultures" is essentially impossible. You do not make that kind of effort unless you want something.

If and when people from Earth seriously go into space, the most likely scenario would be a situation such as that depicted in the fiction movie "Avatar". They would seek cultures they felt could be exploited, strip the alien planet of resources and kill or enslave the local inhabitants.

If this sounds unrealistically cruel to you, for citizens of the United States, you should recall how you came to live in this land. You live here because your ancestors came here, killed millions of indigenous people who were already here and herded the few they did not kill into isolation camps so that they could steal the land. Since this is how they think and act, why would you believe anything would change if they went to another planet.
